Dear Parents,

The valentine's party was a success! Thank you to the valentine committee for sending supplies for our games and to the parents who volunteered at the party. We really appreciate everyone's help!!

Besides the party we did learn a few things this week! In language arts, the students continued the seasons theme. We are working on phoneme segmentation. This is when the students say each sound in simple words. An example would be segmenting the word cat. The three sounds would be /c/ /a/ /t/. Each sound is said separately. We will continue this skill in centers this week but I also encourage you to practice this at home. Also, I am asking that your student is reading to you at home. We are working on becoming more fluent readers. Everyone is off to a great start but more practice is needed.

In math, the students started working with measuring. We measured several items around the room and will continue to do so during centers. Next week we will start working with weighing items. I have a fun lesson that I know the students will come home talking about. I am excited for it!!

Please remember that on the 25th there is an early dismissal and no school for kindergarten only on the 26th & 27th.

As always, if you have any questions just let me know.

Have a great weekend!

Mrs. Hamm ☺
